§1 Name, place and financial year

The club has the name RUBCLUB and will be called "club" hereafter. The place of the club is in Mannheim. It shall be registered in the register of associations. The financial year is the legal year.

§2 Purpose and aim of the club

1. The club is a union of men in furtherance of interpersonal relationships. It promotes inter alia common extracurricular activities, solidarity between human fellows and social self-confidence as well as a fight against a spread of AIDS.
2. The club does not pursue economic purposes. It is politically and denominationally neutral and not bound to any nationality.

§3 Fund

1. Membership fees and donations form the financial fund of the club. Non-monetary resources are part of the fund.
2. The existing fund may only be used for purposes according to the statutes.
3. No person may benefit by expenses, that are alien to the purposes of the club or that are disproportionately high.

§4 Membership

a) regular membership

1. Every man of legal age can become a regular member, if he declares his willingness to support the club and if he accepts these statutes.
2. A written application to the managing committee must be made. The managing committee decides on the admittance.

b) Day Membership

1. The Board may by order
 - a) set the basic possibility of a day membership or repeal this possibility,
 - b) limit the number of day members numerically, by time limitation or otherwise,
 - c) limit the inclusion of day members depending on the fulfilment of obligations,
 - d) prohibit the taking of the daily membership for separate individuals,
2. The daily membership gives guests of the club all the rights of regular club members, except the visit, voting and vote at the meeting.
3. A day member may be included by every board member, in non-attendance of board members by authorized persons.
4. The daily membership ends latest by 6am on the following day after the day of admission.
5. The daily membership ends also by repeal. The repeal can be expressed by any board member, in non-attendance of board members by authorized persons. The repeal does not require a reason.
6. A day membership can only be applied for by an adult.
7. The amount of the membership fees for day membership is decided by the Council on the needs and necessity.

§5 Voting rights and voting rights of a regular member

Each regular member has an active and a passive voting right as well as a vote.

§6 Termination of the regular membership

1. The membership expires when resigning from the club, being excluded or death.
2. The membership can be terminated anytime. All membership fees that have already been paid or other donations / benefits will not be refunded. A written notice of termination has to be sent to the managing committee. This can also be done by use of electronic communication systems (e.g. e-mail).
3. A member can be excluded from the club, if he behaves exaggeratedly and contrary to the interests of the club. The managing committee has to decide about someone's exclusion.

§7 Membership fees

The general meeting decides about amount and maturity of the fees for regular membership, which will be constituted in financial statutes. These financial statutes can comprise the accomplishment working hours and/or fees. The board decides about amount and maturity of the fees of day membership, as described in §4 b / 7.

§9 Managing committee

1. The managing committee consists of the president, the vice-president and the treasurer. Each of them has the individual power of representation and is director of the managing committee according to §26 BGB. The members of the managing committee are exempt from the prescriptions of §181 BGB.
2. In case a member of the managing committee drops out prior to the end of term, he can be replaced by the remaining directors by voting call until the end of term.
3. In case more than one member of the committee drops out prior to the end of term, an exceptional general meeting must be summoned.
4. The managing committee can give itself rules of procedure.

§10 Functions and responsibility of the managing committee

The managing committee is responsible for all matters concerning the club, as far as these responsibilities have not been allotted to the general meeting or the statutes define something different.

§11 Election of the managing committee

The general meeting elects the individual directors of the managing committee for three years by secret ballot. Thereby, the general meeting must stick to the order according to §9, paragraph 1 of the statutes. The candidate who gets the simple majority (50% + 1 vote) of all votes, by all attending members who are entitled to vote, is elected. In case further ballots are necessary: in the third ballot, the candidate, who gets a relative majority of votes by the attending members, is elected.

§12 General meeting

1. In the general meeting, every regular member has one vote. An enfranchisement of another member is not permitted.
2. The general meeting is moderated by the managing committee. In order to elect the managing committee, a returning officer must first be elected in the general meeting.
3. It is the responsibility of the general meeting to elect, recall and clear the managing committee in charge. Furthermore, the general meeting can decide to change the statutes, to close the club and further tasks as long as they arise from the statutes or as long as they are requested by law.
4. In every financial year, there is one annual general meeting. Every member must be sent a written invitation, including an agenda, four weeks prior to the general meeting. The written invitation is considered as being sent, if addressed to the last known address of the club member. The written invitation will be sent by the use of electronic means (e.g. by e-mail) to the last address given to us or by a letter sent by post to the last postal address given to us. It is the RUBCLUB member's responsibility to update his postal address or e-mail address.
5. Requests for additions or changes of the agenda must be announced at the beginning of the general meeting. The general meeting has to decide, if these additions or changes will be included in the agenda.
6. An exceptional general meeting must be summoned, if at least a quarter of the members have requested it in written form by the managing committee.
7. A general meeting is quorate, if it had been summoned according to the rules.
8. As long as the statutes do not rule anything else, resolutions will be passed with a simple majority. Changes in the statutes require a two-third majority of the votes of all attending members. Only valid votes count. Abstentions count as rejected votes.
9. Requests for changing the statutes have to be announced with the exact wording with the agenda. The same applies for elections, requests for de-selection as well as the request for the closure of the club.
10. A protocol of the general meeting that summarises the resolution has to be made. This protocol has to be signed by the head of the meeting, by the recorder, and, in case of elections, by the returning officer.

§13 Accountant

The general meeting elects an accountant for a term of three years. It is allowed to re-elect the accountant. The accountant must not be part of the managing committee. The accountant has to audit the cash at least once a year but in any case prior to the end of term of the treasurer or prior to the re-election of the managing committee. The general meeting has to be informed of the result of the audit.

§14 Closure of the club

1. A separate closure meeting can pass a resolution to close the club. All members have to be invited in written form four weeks prior to this meeting. Hereby, the following conditions have to be fulfilled in order to be able to close the club: at least two-thirds of the members have to be present and a majority of thirteen-sixteenth of the attending members must vote for the closure of the club. In case the quorum is not given, the members have to be invited to a second closure meeting where the number of attending members is not relevant.

2. In case of a closure or a resolution on revocation of the club, the fund of the club will merge into the fund of Deutsche AIDS-Hilfe e.V., Berlin.
